GUTHRIE, Ok., June 3.—The first serious infraction of the law in Guthrie occurred last night at midnight, when one or more burglars entered a tent in the north part of the city occupied by Dr. Sebring and Seth Clark, robbing them of their money seth Clark, robbing them of their money and inflicting serious injury upon Sebring. Mr. Sebring was formerly a resident of Kingman, Kan., where he was engaged in the livery business. He is also said to have been proprietor of a saloon there at one time, and Seth Clark was in his employ as bartender. The two in company with Sebring's brother, Joseph, and one or two others came to Guthrie April 22 and located lots. Several days ago Sebring disposed of his lot but reserved the privilege of occupying his tent as a sleeping place.

Mr. Clark, who occupied the tent with him, says that he out in town until 10 o'clock last evening and on returning to retire found Sebring asleep. He can give could not hear the conversation, that two acquaintances were engaged in a dispute, but soon he heard serious threats made. A shot was fired followed by the noise of one or more men leaving in a hurry. Mr. Suits ran to a neighbor's house, procured a lantern and in company with several other men went to the tent and found Sebring covered with blood. He was throwing his arms wildly about him, but was unconscious. He had been shot in the left check with a small calibre pistol, the ball ranging downward. He had also received several blows on the face and head and a deep cut on his left leg. It seems that he had wrapped his money amounting to $115 in his pocket handerchief and tied it around his ankle. water.

It is almost impossible to conceive the extent of these smoking ruins. An area of eight or ten acres above the dam is covered to a cepth of forty feet with shattered houses carried home from the resident center of Johnstown. In each of these houses, it is estimated, there are from one to twenty or twenty from the people. This is to twenty or twenty-five people. This is accepted as data upon which to estimate the number that perished on this spot, and if the data be correct, the bodies that lie beneath this ruin must run well up into the hundreds, if not thousands. There is no telling how many lives were

Adjutant General Hastings, who has Adjutant treneral Hastings, who has charge of everything, stated this morning that he supposed there were at least 2,000 people under the burning debris, but the only way to find out how many lives were lost was to take a census of the people now living and subtract that from the census before the flood. In the opinion of many there are from 7,000 to 8,000 souls lost.

NO NEED FOR SOLDIERS. JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—Battery B, of Pittsburg, arrived in the city this morn-ing in command of Lieutenant Sheppard, who went to the headquarters of Adjutant General Hastings, in the tower. The general had just gotten up and as the officer approached the general officer said: "Who sent you here?

"I was sent here by the chamber of com-merce," replied the lieutenant. "Well, I want to state that there are such an act without any authority whatever."

This seemed to settle the matter and the battery started back to Pittsburg. In justice to Lieutenant Shepard it might be stated that he was told that an order had been issued by the governor. General Hasting said afterwards that the sending down of soldiers was like waving a red flag and it would tend to create trouble. He said everything was quiet here.
